ABSTRACT

This report presents a "status" study, reporting practices followed in school systems where a severance pay policy is in effect. Severance pay is a fringe benefit designed to provide teachers who have given service to a school system with financial security during the period of transition to a new position or to retirement. The initial mailing list for the survey on which this report is based was obtained from a postal card sent to all school systems enrolling 12,000 or more pupils. Followup questionnaires were then mailed to the 128 systems reporting that they provided severance pay. For each of the 86 systems with bona fide severance pay systems, the tables in this report show the amount of unused sick leave or annual leave which may be accumulated by professional personnel, the conditions of termination under which severance pay is granted, and the formula applied to determine the amount of the severance pay. According to the report, most of the plans now in effect base the amount of payment on the number of days sick leave accumulated.

SEVERANCE PAY FOR PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES IN PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEMS

Though still relatively rare, a policy granting "severance" or "terminal" pay to school employees when they terminate their services in a school system is being adopted by an increasing number of boards of education. In many systems, severance pay is one of the fringe benefits provided in a negotiation agreement.

As defined in a statement of recommendations on fringe benefits issued recently by the National Education Association, the purpose of a severance pay benefit is "to provide teachers who have given service to a school system with financial security during the period of transition to a new position or to retirement."<sup>1/</sup>

Other arguments in favor of severance pay point to the fact that it compensates somewhat for the inadequacy of retirement income and that it is a means of rewarding persons who have not misused their sick leave privileges.

How should the amount of severance pay be determined? The NEA statement recommends payment at the rate of one day's pay per year in the system for teachers who have served five years or more. However, most of the plans now in effect base the amount of payment on the number of days sick leave accumulated. Other questions frequently raised by those considering a severance pay plan concern limitations on the amounts paid and types of terminations for which severance pay should be granted.

The Educational Research Service has prepared this report as an aid to school administrators who have encountered the above problems in working out severance pay policies. The report does not attempt to establish the answers to the various questions raised. Rather, it is a "status" study, reporting practices followed in school systems where a severance pay policy is already in effect.

The initial mailing list for the survey was obtained from a postal card sent to all school systems enrolling 12,000 or more pupils. Respondents were asked to indicate whether the system "provides severance pay (related or unrelated to sick or annual leave) upon termination of service under certain conditions." The 128 systems which replied in the affirmative were sent the questionnaire reproduced on pages 19 and 20. Of the 101 systems which returned this questionnaire, only 86 have bona fide severance pay plans. The 86 systems are distributed among the enrollment groups as follows:

Enrollment group and total systems in group	Number returning severance pay questionnaire
	No. having severance pay	No. not hav- ing severance pay
I. 100,000 or more (25)	10	...
II. 50,000 to 99,999 (55)	10	4
III. 25,000 to 49,999 (93)	21	3
IV. 12,000 to 24,999 (359)	45	8
Totals (532)	86	15

It is likely, of course, that some of the 27 systems which did not return the questionnaire and some of the systems which did not respond to the postal card inquiry have severance pay policies. Therefore, the above figures do not necessarily indicate that severance pay is provided in only 86 of the 532 systems in the country with 12,000 or more pupils. However, on the basis of these figures it is possible to estimate that severance pay is granted in less than 20 percent of the systems.

Attention is called to the fact that in six of the 86 systems, the policy reported applies only to 12-month personnel and provides reimbursement for unused annual leave only. A question might be raised as to whether or not this can be regarded as genuine severance pay.

The table beginning on page 5 lists the 86 school systems which reported their severance pay policies. For each system, the table shows the amount of unused sick leave which may be accumulated by professional personnel (where this is a factor in determining severance pay), the conditions of termination under which severance pay is granted, and the formula applied to determine the amount of the severance pay.

PERSONNEL ELIGIBLE FOR SEVERANCE PAY

Seventy-nine of the 86 school systems provide severance pay to all professional personnel. As mentioned previously, six reported a policy which applies only to 12-month employees who have accumulated annual leave. The remaining system reimburses administrators only, using a formula based on the amount of unused sick leave.

TERMINATIONS FOR WHICH SEVERANCE PAY IS PROVIDED

Among the 86 responding systems, severance pay is granted to both teachers and 12-month employees terminating their services for the following reasons:

Retirement ..... 85 systems
Death ..... 44 systems
Resignation ..... 18 systems
Dismissal ..... 4 systems

One system pays in full for unused sick leave when an employee resigns for maternity, but no severance pay is provided for those leaving under other circumstances.

In seven systems the amount and/or basis upon which severance pay is determined depends on the type of termination. Five systems use different formulas for determining severance pay upon death and upon retirement; two systems figure severance pay upon retirement and upon resignation differently.

BASES FOR DETERMINING SEVERANCE PAY

Among the 86 systems in the survey, five factors appear which are used in determining severance pay, either separately or in combination with each other--sick leave, years of service in the system, total years of teaching experience, annual leave, and personal leave. Personal leave is never the sole factor on which severance pay is based but appears in combination with other factors in two systems.

Table A shows the number of systems by enrollment group that base severance pay on each of the factors or combinations of factors listed.

Sick leave. As can be seen from Table A, about two-thirds (57) of the systems in the survey use accumulated sick leave as the basis for figuring severance pay. Another 18 percent use sick leave in combination with, or as a choice between, another factor to compute terminal leave payments.

As mentioned previously, one of the 57 systems allows payment of severance pay for unused sick leave to administrators only.

The amount of unused sick leave which is allowed to accumulate, of course, has a major bearing on the amount of severance pay which an employee may receive in most systems. Among the 72 systems where unused sick leave is the basis for severance pay, the maximum amount of sick leave which a teacher may accumulate ranges from 27 days (36 for 12-month employees) in one system to unlimited accumulation in 20 systems (in 21 systems for administrators). The most frequently mentioned maximum accumulation was 120 days for teachers and 12-month employees (22 and 24 systems respectively). Unlimited accumulation was second in frequency of mention.

The most common practice is to pay employees for all or a portion of their unused sick leave at their rate of pay at termination (40 systems). Ten systems compensate for unused sick leave at a stipulated dollar amount per day (usually $5 or $10), and five pay the prevailing daily rate for substitutes. An unusual plan is followed in Yonkers, New York. There, the board of education sets up a fund to provide severance pay to teachers who retire during a given year. Each retiring teacher receives a percentage of the total fund based on the percentage his accumulated sick leave is of the total unused sick leave of all teachers retiring that year.

The amount of accumulated sick leave for which a teacher is paid varies widely, and should be considered in terms of the rate of pay at which sick leave is compensated upon termination. For instance, payment at $5 a day for a maximum accumulation of 120 days would not be as rewarding as payment for 60 days of unused sick leave at the employee's final daily rate. The same caution must be used in evaluating plans which use other bases of payment, or in comparing plans with different bases of payment.

Two systems (not included in this study because their plans do not qualify as severance pay) reported unique methods of compensating teachers for unused sick leave. One system said that professional employees are paid on the substitute scale at the end of the school year for earned sick leave not used during that year. Another system reported that teachers do not receive severance pay, but in accordance with a provision of the state retirement system credit for retirement benefits is given for accumulated sick leave at the time of retirement, at the rate of one month's credit for each 20 days or fraction thereof.

Years of service. Six systems base severance pay on years of service only. Another seven pay professional employees an amount for years of service in addition to an amount based on some other factor, or provide an alternate method of determining severance pay which is based on years of service. The amount paid per year of service varies among the systems, ranging from $10 to $140 for each year of service.

In only two systems is at least part of the severance pay based on total credited teaching experience. In most cases it is specified that severance pay be computed only on years served in the system. One system further specifies that these years must be consecutive.

In some systems the percentage of unused sick leave for which a teacher receives severance pay is determined by the number of years of service in the system. In one case, the teacher's length of service determines whether he is paid for years of service or for unused sick leave.

Annual leave. Only systems which allow 12-month employees to accumulate annual leave beyond the current year and which will pay these employees for all or part of this annual leave upon termination have been included in the report. Thirteen reporting systems meet this stipulation.

The majority of these systems will pay for annual leave accumulated during only the year-and-one-half or two years before termination. Two systems, however, permit unlimited accumulation of annual leave and full reimbursement for unused annual leave upon retirement, resignation, or death. Six of the 13 systems provide severance pay for annual leave ONLY, and seven will ALSO pay 12-month employees for accumulated sick leave.

Personal leave. Two systems reimburse teachers and administrators for at least part of their unused personal leave. This is in addition to amounts computed on other bases.

Other formulas. In order to allow the teacher or administrator the greatest possibility of receiving a meaningful amount of severance pay, four systems have established alternate formulas to figure severance pay. The employee is paid according to the formula which yields the larger dollar amount. In one system the basis for both formulas is sick leave, and in the other three systems the formulas are on two different bases.

One system offers three formulas. In still another system the retiring employee is paid either a full month's salary or for up to 25 days of accumulated sick leave; upon death, however, the sick leave formula is applied. One respondent said that, effective January 1, 1970, the beneficiary of an employee who dies in service will be paid the full face of the current contract up to $10,000.

SAMPLE SEVERANCE PAY POLICIES

Since policies upon which this study is based often contain provisions other than those summarized or reported individually in the system-by-system table, the sample policies beginning on page 15 have been selected from among the dozens submitted to illustrate some of the formats of severance pay policies. It is hoped that the examples will also be helpful to systems in the process of writing or revising severance pay formulas.

HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT

BOARD POLICY ON SEVERANCE PAY

1. Severance Pay Formulas. Upon retirement or death, calculation of severance pay shall be made by applying both of the following formulas, and the employee or his estate shall be paid whichever amount is greater.
  - a. Formula 1 (1966 contract). Payment shall be calculated at the rate of one day's pay for each day of accumulated full pay sick leave credited to an employee on his termination date in excess of 45 full pay days up to a maximum of 30 days severance pay, provided, however, if an employee is absent due to any extended illness during his final school year of service, the 45 day requirement shall be reduced by one day for each day of such extended illness until the reserve of accumulated sick leave has been exhausted. An extended illness for the purpose of this clause shall be defined as one requiring absence of 15 or more consecutive days.
  - b. Formula 2 (1968 contract). The total accumulation of all allotted full pay sick days since 1934 less absences for an employee's illness and less absences exceeding five days each year for personal reasons recognized in present policy but not less non-deductible absences (injury in service, conventions, visiting days, jury duty, compensatory days, absences with salary deductions, and equivalent situations) shall be multiplied by a factor of 15%, the product being the number of days for which payment shall be made at the current per diem rate. No credit shall be given for the period during which an employee was in military service.

For the purpose of calculating the number of allotted days since 1934, the following yearly allotments shall be used:

	10 month	12 month
July 1, 1934 - June 30, 1940	10	10
July 1, 1940 - June 30, 1949	10	12
July 1, 1949 - June 30, 1967	15	18
July 1, 1967 - June 30, 1968	20	24

- c. Regulations applying to both formulas. To be eligible for severance pay employees who plan to retire from April 1 through June 30 of any year must give at least 90 days prior notice of their definite intention to retire. Employees who plan to retire at any other time of the year must give at least 60 days notice. If such notice is submitted in July or August, the 60 day provision shall be in effect from August 1 except when an adequate substitute or qualified replacement is available in which case the retirement date by mutual agreement becomes effective on the day when the substitute or replacement can begin work. In all cases severance pay shall be due the employee on the date of retirement or on the first payroll date thereafter. These notice requirements shall not be applicable to employees who die or become physically disabled in such a way as to force their retirement.
2. Per Diem Rates. The following shall be used to compute the per diem rate for severance pay:
    - a. Ten-month employees. For employees whose work is governed by the school calendar, 1/180th of their current annual salary.
    - b. Ten-and-one-half-month employees. For employees whose work is governed by the school calendar plus one week before Labor Day week and one week after closing of school, 1/191th of their current annual salary.
    - c. Eleven-month employees. For employees whose work is governed by the school calendar plus approximately six weeks, 1/212th of their current annual salary.
    - d. Twelve-month employees. For employees whose work year is 12 months, 1/226th of their current annual salary.

PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA

TERMINAL LEAVE PROVISIONS FOR 1969

Eligibility for Terminal Leave Payment, January 1, 1969 through December 31, 1969

Persons who retire under any of the provisions established by the Public School Employees' Retirement Board for superannuation or disability retirement.

Persons who are eligible for superannuation retirement during calendar year 1969 and who die during that period.

Determination of Terminal Leave Payment

Terminal leave pay may be determined in either of two ways: (1) on the basis of accumulated unused sick leave days available on the date of retirement; or (2) on the basis of years of service in the Pittsburgh Public Schools.

Payment will be made on the basis which gives the larger amount in those cases where the amounts differ.

The maximum terminal leave payment is $1500 for either method in 1969.

Application for Terminal Leave Pay

Persons planning to retire must submit three copies of the Terminal Leave Application blank to the Personnel Division. The envelope should be marked "Terminal Leave Application."

Applications must be received in the Personnel Office at least 60 days prior to the final pay day in order to insure that payment may be made on that date. For persons planning to retire at the end of June this means that applications should be received no later than April 20.

Applications received after the sixty day deadline will be processed, but it is most likely that the terminal leave check will have to be mailed to the retiree after the last pay day.

Applicants should indicate unused sick leave days and years of service in the Pittsburgh Public Schools on the application. These figures will be verified by checking with records in the Finance Division, Controller's Office, and Personnel Division.

Deductions from Terminal Leave Pay

There will be withholding for federal income tax, local wage tax and (where total salary to date is less than $7800) for social security benefits.

There will be no retirement deduction from terminal leave pay, and this amount will not be included in the computation of the retirement allowance.

Specific Provisions

Accumulated unused sick leave days

Terminal leave pay will be computed by allowing 25 percent of not more than 120 unused sick leave days available on the date of retirement. Daily pay used in the computation will be the actual daily rate at time of retirement, but not to exceed $50 per day.

Daily pay for hourly workers will be based upon the normal number of hours in the work day and the regular hourly rate.

Daily pay for those paid on a monthly basis will be computed by the same method used in connection with nonpaid absence. For persons on a school month, the monthly salary will be divided by twenty. For calendar month employees, the annual salary will be divided by 251.

Years of service in Pittsburgh Public Schools

Terminal leave pay will be determined by allowing 3/4 day for each year of service in the Pittsburgh Public Schools.

Daily pay will be determined in the manner described above.

DADE COUNTY, FLORIDA

TERMINAL PAY
(Board policy)

To encourage and reward personnel who exercise particular care in the maintenance of their personal health and job attendance, the board will provide, on and after August 5, 1965, terminal pay to personnel at normal retirement, or to their beneficiaries if service is terminated by death. Terminal pay shall be an amount determined by the daily rate of pay of employee at retirement or death, multiplied by one-half the total number of accumulated sick leave days credited to the individual at the time of his retirement or death.

INDIANAPOLIS, INDIANA

POLICY ON RETIREMENT SERVICE CREDIT FOR TEACHERS

In order to meet budgetary requirements for a service credit benefit of $40 for each year of Indianapolis teaching experience and $10 per day for each day of accumulated sick leave, the following criteria are submitted to assist those who wish to qualify for service credit benefits upon retirement:

- 1) Since contracts and budgets must be prepared one year in advance, teaching employees will be expected to give written notice of their intentions of retiring at least one year in advance. This procedure is necessary to insure funds for payment of benefits. If, for any valid reason, an employee cannot give a full year's notice, the General Superintendent may approve a shorter notice of intent to retire.
- 2) Retirement benefits shall be included in the contract for the last year of service. Payment shall be made in a lump sum on the last day of service.
- 3) Experience credit shall be based on the total years of Indianapolis teaching experience. The last year of service may be pro-rated if the final year is not completed. Fractional years may be combined to make a full year. Teaching experience in other school systems or a leave of absence shall not be counted in determining the total number of years of Indianapolis experience. (One year equals 190 days.)
- 4) Funds for unused sick leave have not been included in the contracts which have been issued for the ensuing year. Details on the payment for unused sick leave will have to be determined during the last year of service.
- 5) To be eligible for the benefits in effect during the last year of service, a teacher should be under contract at least ninety calendar days from the date of the beginning of the contract.
- 6) Any teacher 62 years of age or under who seeks a service credit benefit shall submit satisfactory proof that an application for retirement benefits has been or will be made in one or both of the following agencies:
  - a) Social Security.
  - b) Indiana State Teachers Retirement

No service credit benefit shall be paid to a teacher who does not retire.

- 7) Upon the recommendation of the General Superintendent and approval of the Board, changes and/or additions may be made in the criteria outlined in the foregoing statement.
